FAIR PARK
HIGH SCHOOL

Restoring Indian Pride is an ongoing community effort that has been a very successful project.

Junior Trena Dickens puts the finishing touch on a personal creation.

Showing off his expertise, Junior John Newson demonstrates to the faculty how a flower bed should be put together.

While conversating with classmates, Junior Demon Holmes cultivates the area around the marquis.

Restoring Indian Pride

FPHS Takes On A Brand New Look

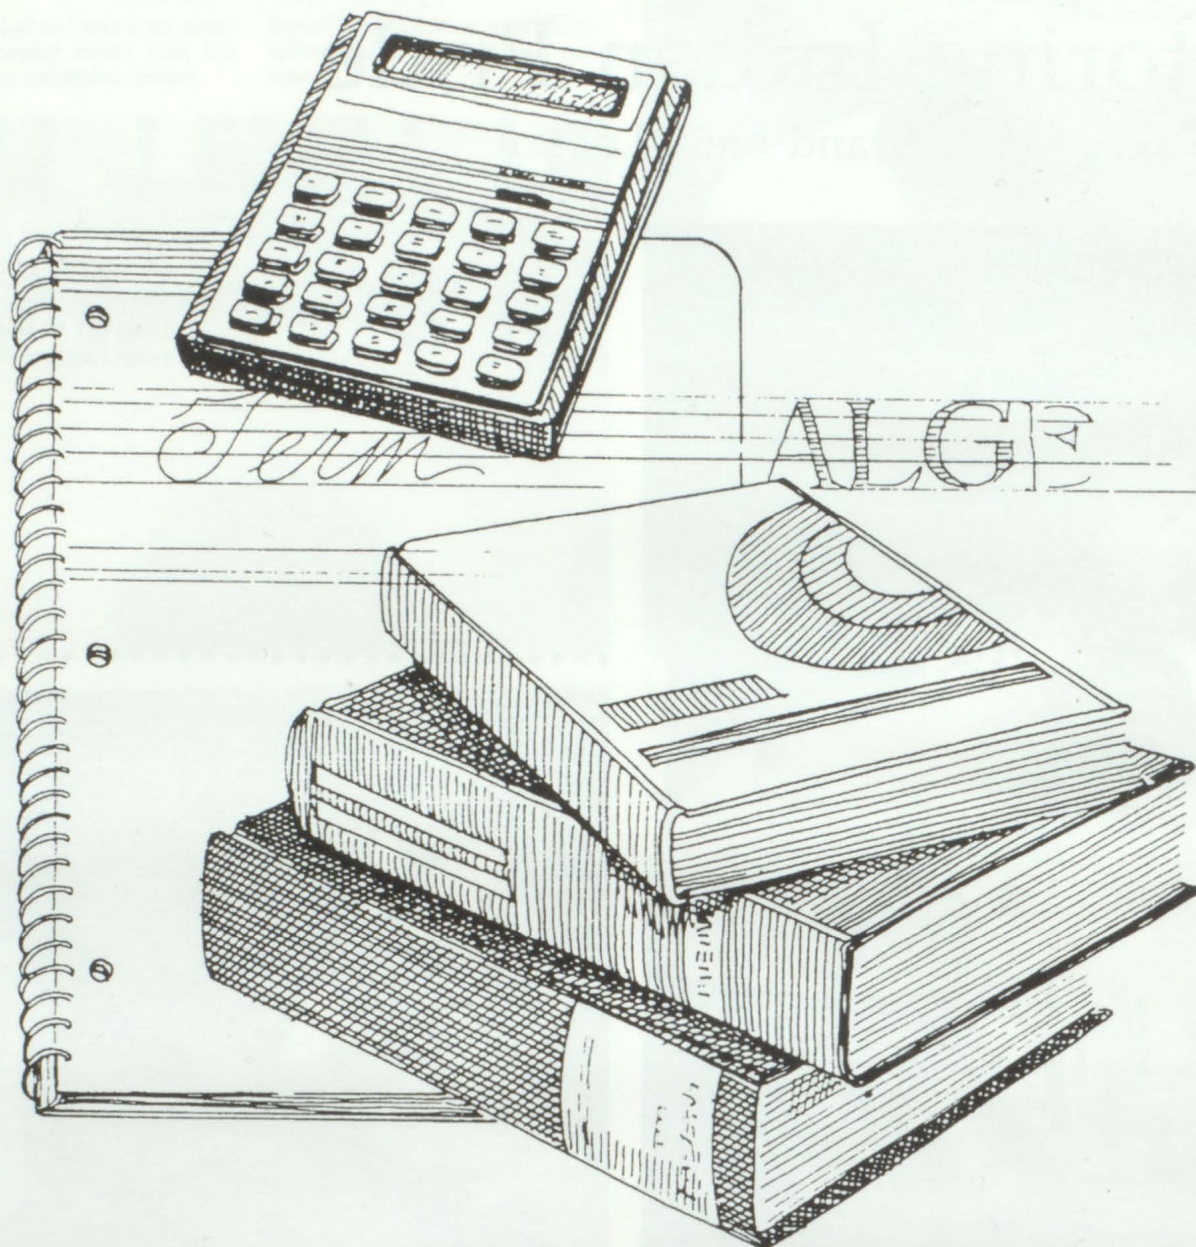

FPHS has gone through quite a few changes, including a face lift to the reservation.

Sophomore Josey Thomas paints one of the benches for him or his schoolmates to enjoy during the new school year.

Cheerleaders designed their own flower arrangements for an area near the school.

Fair Park High School is and always has been a place of learning. Sure, we have our share of fun, but it's all about an education. We strive to be the best at everything we do, and we feel that we are truly the best!

We've Got Spirit!

F

S

School spirit. Just the mention of that phrase conjures many meanings for different people at different high schools. But we here at Fair Park know just what it really means. We Indians have taken as our theme for the year "Restoring Indian Pride." It's all about that black and gold!

Reservation Day 1994

On November 4, 1994, Reservation Day was held here. The purpose of this day is to learn more about Native American culture. In the past, Reservation Day was used in place of a pep rally before playing football against our big rival C.E. Byrd High School. The Honorable Rev. Clarence Glover, Jr. spoke to students about self respect, and later, food, drinks, and school spirit items were sold in the Quadrangle. The celebration ended with a dance in the gym.

OH! I THOUGHT THIS WAS THE FOOD TABLE.

AREN'T THEY CUTE! BUT WHY
IS MR. WHITE SMILING.

I'M TRIED OF SELLING THESE
CAPS. I WONDER IF ANYBODY
WOULD NOTICE IF I GOT UP AND LEFT.

DO NOT GO INTO THE LIGHT.

Ms. Brown it will be okay, Reservation Day is only once a year!

I hope this paint washes out!

I have only one question, why do you have those shades on!

I just know she did't!!!

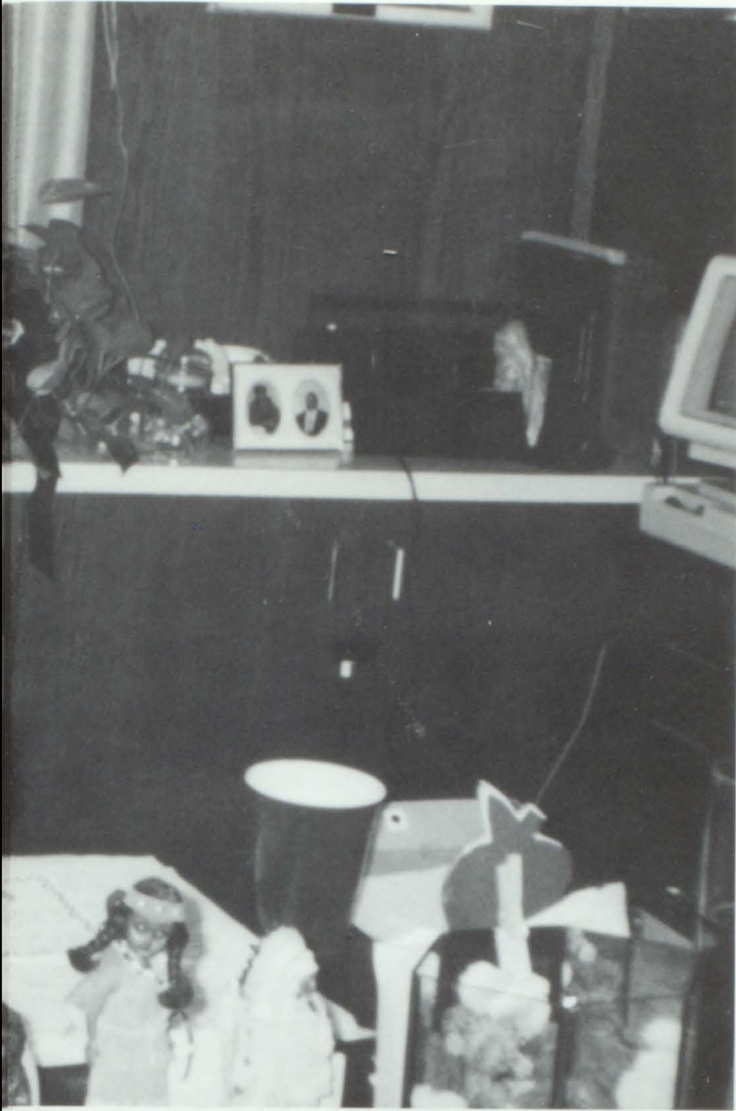

Working head in her office, Principal Wanda Brooks takes a minute out of her busy schedule to pose for the camera.

During her spare time, Mrs. Brooks enjoys fishing. Here she is seen holding "the catch of the day."

Duty calls, Mrs. Brooks stands near the circle to ensure that Fair Park students leave the campus in an orderly manner.

As Fair Park's new principal Mrs. Brooks is proud to be "Big Chief."

On duty after school, Mrs. Brooks and Mr. Clayton stand in front of the school.

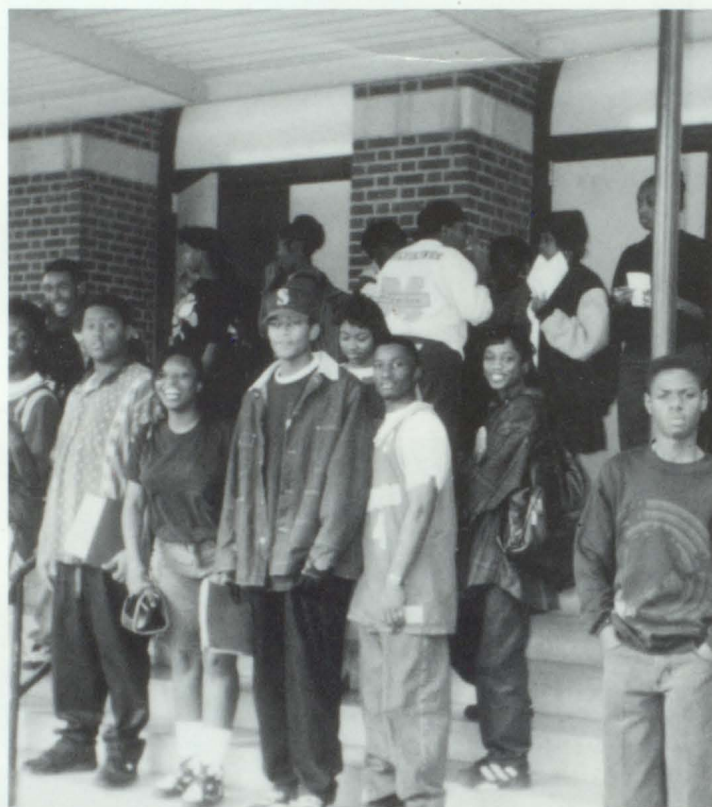

On August 13, 1994, a tribe of fellow Indians gathered on the reservation to beautify the campus. Mrs. Brooks called everyone together for a moment of prayer before the landscaping began.

A Message From Our Principal Wanda Brooks

Restoring Indian Pride is the theme for Fair Park High school for 1994-1995, I am proud to the Chief of the Reservation and to work cooperatively with staff and student body to build pride and increase test scores.

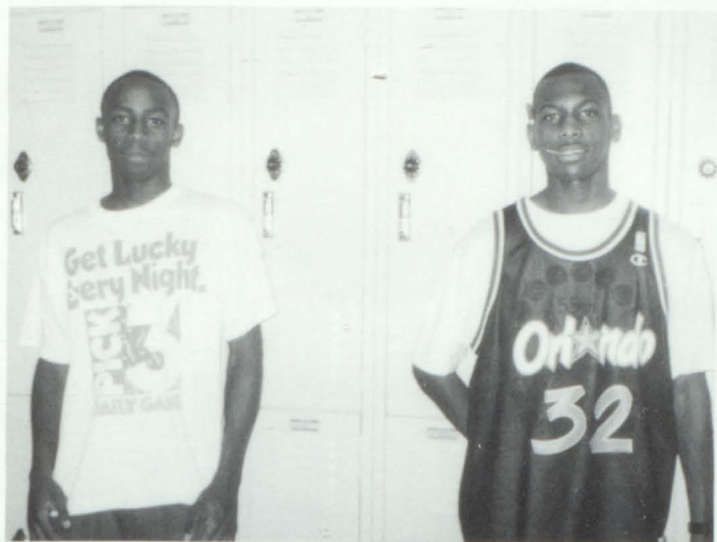

Senior Cedric Lars is caught taking a break behind the gym.

Black by nature, proud by choice.

Kedrick Houston and Tony Webb relax after school before going to basketball practice.

Marilyn Claiborne, that's not your locker!

These ladies are shown taking a break from all that writing they do in Ms. Bryant's class.

2:15 p.m. Schools out!

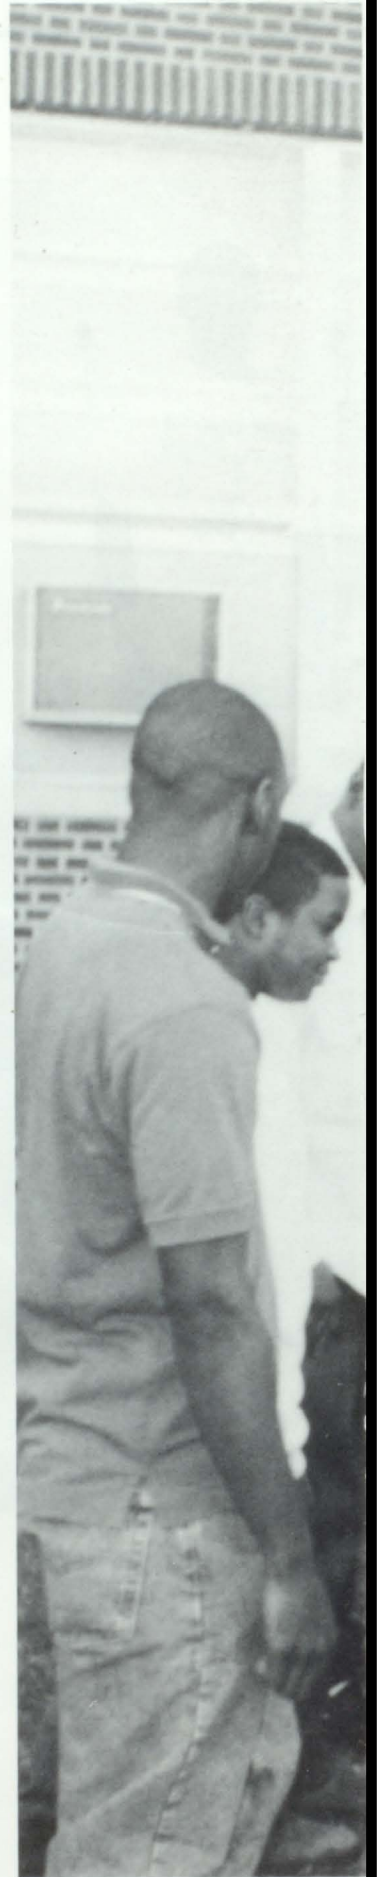

Black Men United

During a locker clean-out, several young men take some time to get rid of some trash.

Some Fair Park Indians hang out in the quadrangle.

Junior Andrea Johnson shows that she is proud to be an Indian.

These students are enthusiastic, energetic, and ready to begin the day.

Orlando Powell, a sophomore, amuses his fellow classmates.

Presidents of the free lunch crew-
Lennard, Chantel, and Dorian.

Could someone tell me how to do
these augmented matrix systems?!?

Sophomores Angela Hall and Nicole Tiner take a break in English II class.

Junior Capel Rone takes time to retrieve his books from his locker.

Senior Gerald Williams takes a bite out of his roll in the cafeteria.

Tamara, Kizzie, Nitika, Michelle, Trena, and Danielle pose in front of the Indian head painted by the art department.

A Day At F.P.

Fair Park students are fabulous, perceptive, faithful, persistent, fantastic, persuasive, flattering, playful, fortunate, popular, friendly, proud, fun, promising, familiar, and perfect!

Kammeshia Davis and Kim LeJay are glad that school's out.

These students enjoy a peaceful moment in the quadrangle.

Larry Cummings, headphone sets are not allowed at school!

Kim Webb and Rontrell Jenkins spend time handling senior business.

Being prepared for class is important to this student as she goes to her locker between class.

Mrs. Maxile supervises the concession stand as several wait in line.

The hungry Twana Parker, a junior, tries to swipe sophomore Nausha Lewis' pizza.

Even in the lunch line, athletes stick together.

This group of students is hanging out in the cafeteria after eating lunch.

Kanika, Jamal, Leonard, Adrienne, Eumeka, and Danielle are enjoying their meal. Yum!

What's For Lunch?

Eating in the cafeteria is a highlight for many Fair Park students. Chili beans with rice, buttered baby carrots, turnip greens, creole gumbo with rice, mixed vegetables, Southern fried chicken, brown rice, taco salad bar, banana cake, chocolate chip cookies, fruiti freeze cups, and mild are just some of the tasty meals one can select.

Senior Angela Jordan selects a healthful entree from the salad bar.

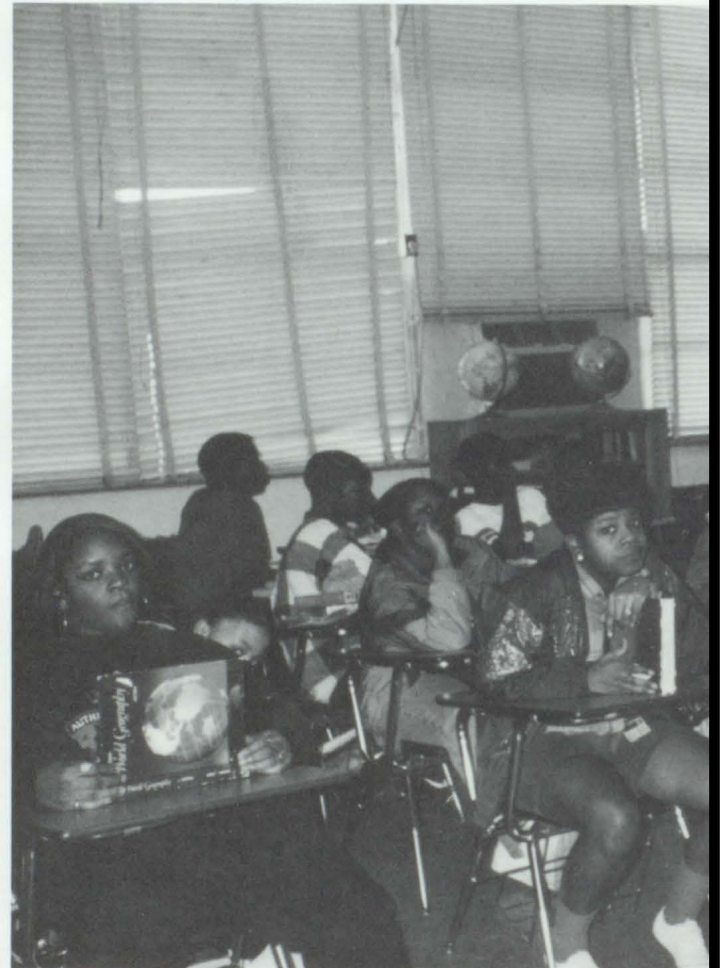

Crystal and her friends relax in the quadrangle during lunch.

Torrey Robinson relaxes in the foyer of the auditorium.

Tinessa and Jacqueline sit in Mr. Jarrell's world geography class.

Homework is supposed to be completed at home!

Working in the library, these students check their notes.

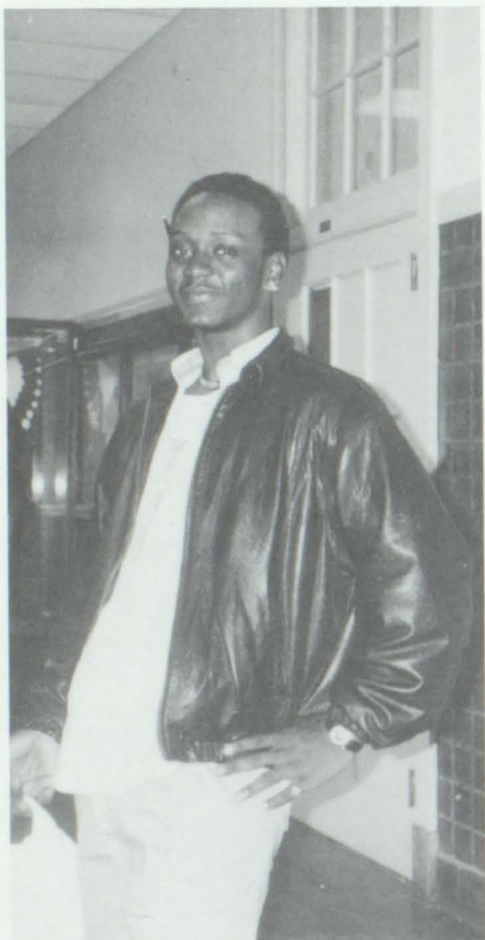

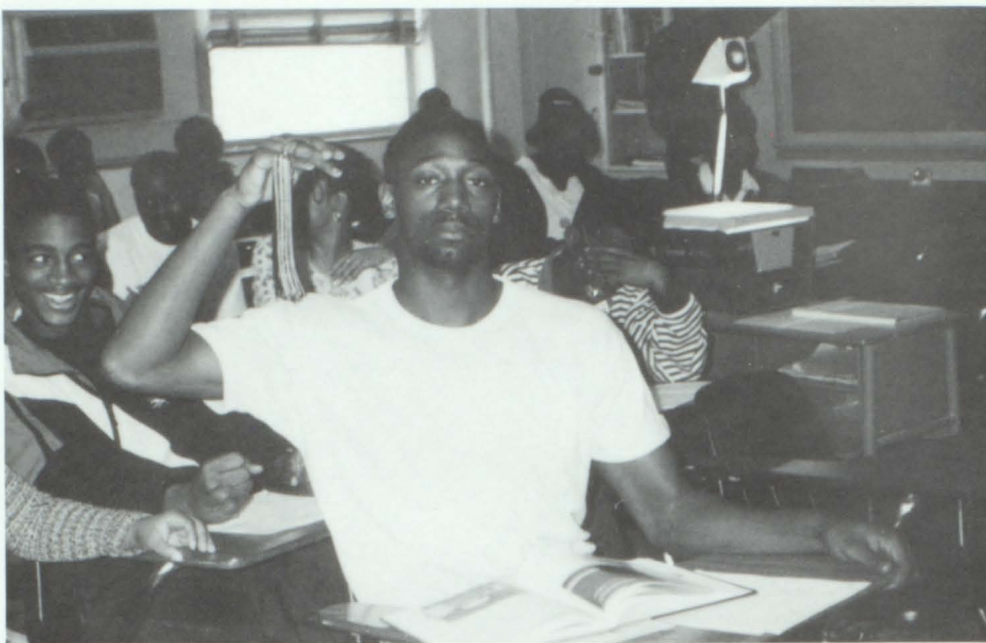

Senior Jeffrey, Troy, Duriel, Carlos, Adrienne, Eumeka, Danielle, Jamal, Lennard, and Ricky have fun at lunch.

These young men clean out their lockers during locker clean-out.

Holding his bag of senior stuff, Sterlin Johnson is happy.

These seniors are glad to receive their senior books.

Antonio Henderson and Damien Baylor take a moment to look through their senior books.

Class Of 1995

The Cheerleaders attended camp at Centenary College in Shreveport when they earned superior ratings in various competitions. They also made many friends from schools around the area.
